I have a degree in Art Education and spent many years teaching Art before becoming an artist. After experimenting with different collage and mixed media techniques in my spare bedroom studio, I have developed a unique art technique using pen and ink on tissue paper which I then collage onto a canvas. I enjoy using recycled materials and often source tissue paper, old maps and books from family and friends. I have exhibited widely, run art workshops in schools and Art groups, been involved in Arts Festivals and have taken part in Sky Landscape Artist of the Year. My work is usually based on British wildlife and landscapes, often from my own photographs.
